Triple Glazing

Triple glazing is the ultimate choice and superior to double glazing as it improves energy efficiency, comfort and noise reduction. Here's a clear breakdown:

1. Better insulation (U-value)

Triple glazing has three panes of glass and two insulating air/gas layers, while double glazing has only two panes and one layer. This means triple glazing:

- Keeps heat inside during winter
- Keeps heat out during summer
- Reduces heating/cooling costs

2. Less heat loss near windows

Triple glazing reduces the “cold surface” effect.

Benefits:

- Fewer cold drafts near windows
- More consistent room temperature
- Windows feel warmer to the touch

3. Better noise reduction

The extra glass layer + extra cavity gives:

- Lower outside noise
- Better performance for busy roads or cities

4. Less condensation

Inside surface is warmer, so:

- Less moisture forms on glass
- Reduced risk of mould or damp
